bad it is! And you can log in to any account but you initially need to use gmail. But my friends at school had sent invitations in my school account and I didn't know I could create another account and that I didn't know my school email would work! That's why hangouts are still good and it will always be forever! At least it is bad and PLEASE DO NOT GET rid OF THIS. I say that because I don't have every friend I can talk to the message and that's why I also use hangouts so I can talk to other friends! So if you get rid of this, I'll help boost this level. (i love is so I still give a 5-star rating because even with teenage problems, you need to ignore later to help go do the right thing and not do the bad !) Before the most recent update, there was an occasional bug. Enough to make me give them four stars. From Things like when you join a call, it will act as if you received a call for over five seconds and you can't hear or talk. Other bugs include some inducing when sending photos and videos, as well as very poor quality in all videos (although this is not a bug, just the way the app is.) What has further downgraded my rating in Hangouts is their latest update. An update requires you to set up google meets to call or FaceTime. This is most confusing in a group chat, as it sends messages with links, links, most people don't suspect calls unless they actually hear REAL CALLS. Google meets (just use it and you'll see) is absolutely not practical for casual conversations, or official meetings, and still very clunky and even MORE BUGGY. Most of these you need to use to understand. I will still use this app. I have to. Hangouts are strong in the field of connecting more people than ever before, because all you need is Gmail or some school email (although school emails are quite limited, they can't send photos or videos, but that's understandable.) I'm just disappointed that Google cleared Google to meet people. I hope this review helps, and congratulate him for getting to the end! Having lost my income, and Congress failed to act on a new unemployment boost, I had lost my car, my phone, and my internet. With two babies affected immune at home- not having a phone is a dangerous risk. I've tried all the call applications and they're great for the first day – so you've got to make any important phone calls. Then you'll find out why the app is free that's only free if you don't need it for anything remotely important. So imagine my surprise when I finally decided to try hangouts. I though it's just like the type of app video chat, like a Google messenger version of the kind of thinking. I feel in many ways, but better. I've been able to call ANY number I need, no issues, no crazy survey lists that never really end and never reward a single. There are no monthly fee requests for upgrades (YET lol). The only issue so far is that I don't appear to have a phone number when I call people, so they can't call me back. But as an introvert, I support I can think of things worse happening in life. so far so good. Will update if any changes.
